

Hello !!!

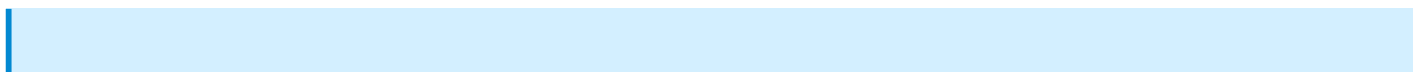

Hi All,

Thanks for taking the time to read what I have written here. This is my note-taking platform. I use a self-hosted instance of Bookstack to take notes. I ended up using this instead of all the fancy note-taking applications available, as it allows me to host my data without installing an application on the corporate laptop, share specific notes if they are helpful to others, and helps me learn how to manage services during my spare time.

Some disclaimers before we get to the other articles. I will not share any proprietary information on the website. The discussion presented is just my notes. I will attempt to provide adequate references for the discussion, but there may be areas where it's not fully developed. Please do your research to supplement what you read here on the website.

I want to use these notes to flesh out what I learn. I want to explain what I know in simple, bite-sized write-ups. This would help me validate if I understood what I read, and it could be helpful for someone else who ends up reading it. Hope you find some value from this website.

Alen

If you find any notes with write up needing corrections please reach out to me using
"Contact Me" section in TekNote \(my Website\)

Revision #25

Created 20 June 2025 04:55:29 by Alen Alex Ninan

Updated 2 July 2025 15:37:10 by Alen Alex Ninan